THE DESCENDANTS

Nestled in the lauded wine region on the North Fork, Long Island Spirits distillery owes its palatable collection of premium beverages to a lineage of localized agriculture. Born from the potato farms that surround the historic "twin cupola" the distillery calls home, each bottle is a toast to both the fertile landscape and the farm hands that cultivate it. Featuring an inventory that includes Long Island staple, LV Vodka, there is no questioning the artful craftsmanship that goes into every libation. lspirits.com

ON YOUR MARK

The Mark Hotel asserts its prestige with classic and contemporary credentials. The Art Deco exterior exerts classic American bravado while the quintessentially French interior, dreamed up by renowned designer Jacques Grange, provides a European panache. Whether enjoying the courtesy cars and bicycles provided to explore the city or dining in with Chef Jean-Georges' savory eats, The Mark Hotel personifies Upper East Side substance. #### DISHES & DÉCOR

Set apart by a trifecta of design-minded owners, Lynn Wagenknecht, Steve Abramowitz and Judi Wong, Cafe Clury has become a Manhattan staple for both its savory flavors and chic ambiance. The West Village corner eatery offers an eclectic menu inspired by European and American influences, but perhaps Cafe Clury's most distinctive calling card is the wonderful collection of nature-inspired art collected from across New York state. #### MAKING WAVES

Tripoli Patterson's Southampton gallery looks to reinvigorate the contemporary art scene found on the famed East End. Combining a love of surfing and art, this esteemed gallery calls upon waves of established and emerging creatives such as Brooklyn artist Aakash Nihalani, whose optical-illusion-like mixed-media work, Arranged 1a, is shown here. With such an assemblage of illustrious works, Tripoli Gallery hangs a perfect ten. tripoligallery.com
