Things to do, buy, see and try

1. NEW YORK: Where else to eat in Manhattan besides The Mark Hotel's Jean-Georges? Elegant and innovative, the restaurant's new bar opens onto the street for long, lazy New York summer afternoons. The menu's been crafted by award-winning chef Jean-Georges Vongerichten and includes masterpieces like black truffle pasta and bourbon pecan pie. Afterwards, head upstairs to your suite to sleep it off. www.themarkhotel.com

2. TOKYO: Dynamic twosome Carol Lim and Huberto Leon, with their multi-brand store Opening Ceremony, have collaborated with indie film star Chloë Sevigny on an Autumn/Winter collection. The lookbook captures Sevigny showcasing her inner Cindy Sherman in a game of dress-up. The collection hits Opening Ceremony stores this autumn. www.openingceremony.us

3. PARIS: French perfumier Dipytque celebrates its 50th anniversary this year and, with it, a signature fragrance called 34 Boulevard Saint-Germain commemorating the first boutique in Paris at that address. The fragrance has chypre as its foundation, with base notes of wood and balms – perfect for both ladies and gents. www.dipytqueparis.com

4. BALI: The Voyager Creative Retreat has opened its doors not just to surfers seeking some of the best waves in the world, but also to musos looking for a boutique resort. It's offering accommodation packages for creatives to produce music on the island with in-house video production and online marketing teams to assist. www.voyager-retreats.com

5. JOHANNESBURG: The Piaget Rose collection, which launched last year to mark the 30th anniversary of the Yves Piaget rose, comes to the fore in 2013 with an ultra-feminine range which includes gold and diamond bouquets. Featuring pink opals and tourmalines, it's a true testimony to the brand's illustrious heritage in fine jewellery-making. www.piaget.com

6. VENICE: The Museum of Everything (now Il Palazzo di Everything) will be heading to Venice this year (alongside the famed Venice Biennale) for an installation of over 40 artworks, guerilla events, artist-led discussions and pop-up locations. www.museumofeverything.com
