

World Traveller

July, 2013

Check In

By Leah Oatway

Check In

The Essentials

Top Mark

In the city that never sleeps, one Manhattan hotel has come up with an ingenious plan...

Travelling to New York can be a bit of a shock to the body clock at first: jet lagged, you find yourself staring up at the ceiling when you should be fast asleep.

Luckily, boutique Manhattan abode The Mark has a rather stylish answer to your dilemma: round-the-clock shopping at the super-swanky Fifth Avenue store Bergdorf Goodman. Stay at the Upper East Side hotel and you'll be granted exclusive all-hours access to the luxury store and the covetous treasures nestled within it.

The hotel's concierge has direct access to Bergdorf's personal shopping director and, with a heady client list that includes well-known socialites and fashion followers, you know that you're in safe hands.